PATROLMAN HIDDLESON, 53, DIES SUDDENLY

Three Are Killed As Speeding Erie Train Jumps Track

Plunges Into Signal Tower Near Lima at 70-Mile-An-Hour Clip

ENGINE, NINE CARS THROWN INTO DITCH

Engineer and Fireman Burned Almost Beyond Recognition

(By Associated Press)

LIMA, Dec. 22.—Crashing through a signal tower after jumping the tracks, a speeding Erie railroad passenger train was wrecked two miles south of here last night, killing three men and injuring several passengers.

The train, No. 7, westbound from New York to Chicago, was going about 70 miles an hour, trainmen said, when it left the rails.

Cars Catch Fire

Nine cars and the engine overturned in a ditch, and two of the cars caught fire. Four other coaches, containing most of the 30 passengers aboard, remained upright.

Charles Scott, engineer, and Earl Swihart, fireman, both of Huntington, Ind., were trapped in the cab of the locomotive and were killed, probably instantly. Charles Aldrich, of Lima, working in the tower, was killed when the crash hurled him from his lofty rooms onto one of the burning coaches.

The bodies of Aldrich and Swihart, burned so badly that identification was difficult, were recovered from the wreckage. Scott's body was buried in the debris.

Only one passenger, Miss Georgia Deerwester of Huntington, Ind., required hospital treatment. She suffered severe cuts when rescuers lifted her through the window of a wrecked coach.

Other passengers received minor bruises and cuts and were given first aid treatment by doctors and nurses at the scene.

Firemen Handicapped

Lima firemen fought the flames desperately but were limited to the use of chemical equipment as no water supply was available.

For a time it was feared some of the trainmen were trapped in a flaming baggage and mail car of wood construction, but no bodies were found when a search was made of the smouldering wreckage.

The wreck occurred at a crossing of the Erie and the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroads, the latter of which operated the tower. Trainmen were uncertain what caused the wreck but said the train left the track as it struck a side switch near the crossing.

Other trains later were rerouted over the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroad by way of Kenton while three wrecking crews started to clear away the wreckage.

Husband Released

SPRINGFIELD, O., Dec. 22—Authorities investigating the death of Mrs. Alice E. Startout, 70, in whose neck a cord was found embedded, last night released her husband, Albert, 72, and son, William Earl Heindel, 54, after questioning them.

Charities Fund Hits $782 Figure; More Toys Sought

With 50 individual organizations now represented, each striving to contribute its utmost toward alleviating suffering among the needy, the Salem Associated Charities welfare fund today had passed the $782 figure, according to announcement by Mrs. John C. Litty, secretary.

At the same time, the charities executives point out that more money is needed if the field is to be covered thoroughly.

In addition, the association today renewed its plea for more toys, old, discarded or whatever they may be, because there may be quite a few youngsters who may be "overlooked."

If you have something that you can spare, send it to the Elks home, East State st., tonight, if possible, or not later than tomorrow morning.

Invitations are out to 425 youngsters for the Christmas treat at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Elks home.

Vouchers have been extended to 125 families to date, the charities unit reports.

The charity workers will hold no more meetings until after Christmas. Most of them expect to take a night off Friday and enjoy the basketball carnival at the high school auditorium. Proceeds will go to charity.

Civil Service Head Asked to Resign

AKRON, Dec. 22 — Attorney Harold E. Held, chairman of the Akron civil service commission, was asked today by Mayor C. Nelson Sparks to resign "for the public good."

Sparks and Held both declined to discuss the matter and held refused to indicate whether he would step aside or seek to retain the post.

RAIL WORKERS SIGN PAY PACT

One Million Employes To Continue To Accept Present Wages

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—One million railway workers early today agreed through their 1,500 representatives to continue to accept pay checks ten per cent lower than the standard scale for another nine months. When the current agreement expires, on January 31, the employes will have felt the effect of the cut for one year.

Their decision, assuring their employers a huge saving in operating costs until next October 31, was reached at 12:04 a. m., after 11 days of negotiation with nine officials of the roads.

The last 14 hours witnessed continuous conferences as the union leaders sought to find common ground on which their men and their employes could stand. They found it in a compromise proposal made by the roads, but it was almost upset by opposition from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

That large and powerful union withheld approval for several hours. Even on the last roll call 18 votes went against it. Shortly after midnight the group lines up with the 20 other shop crafts. An hour later the chairman of the labor groups, Alexander P. Whitney of Cleveland, chief of the trainmen, signed the agreement with William F. Thiehoff, general manager of the Burlington line and spokesman for the roads.

Frank W. Springer, 27, to Be New Prosecutor's Assistant

LISBON, Dec. 22—Prosecuting Attorney-elect George L. Lafferty today announced the appointment of Attorney Frank W. Springer, 27, of East Palestine as his assistant.

Mr. Springer is a native of Martins Ferry, a graduate of the high school there, and also of Ohio Northern University law school. He was admitted to the bar in July, 1927, and immediately located in East Palestine.

He is now serving his third term as solicitor for the Village of New Waterford, and is solicitor also for East Palestine. He was president of the East Palestine Kiwanis club during 1931.

Mr. Springer is married, his wife being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Morris of East Palestine.

CRIPPLED TOTS ROTARY GUESTS

35 Enjoy Turkey Dinner And Visit From Santa Claus

Thirty-five crippled children who have been under the care of the Salem Rotary club were guests of the Rotarians at their annual Christmas party Wednesday noon at the Memorial building.

After the turkey dinner President Charles G. McCorkhill presented Att'y. L. P. Metzger, chairman of the club's committee in charge of the crippled children, who presided over the program.

Program by Children

Junior High players then presented "Courtship of Miles Standish" in a very clever manner. The characters were: Miles Standish, Robert Battin; Priscilla, Jean McCarthy; John Alden, Jane Metzger; courier, Arthur Brian; messenger, Wade McGhee. Two teachers, Misses Effie Cameron and Helen Smith were in charge.

Following the program Rotarian Harvey Egley appeared in the costume of Santa Claus and in behalf of the club presented each crippled child with Christmas gifts.

Guests At Dinner

As guests of the club at this gathering, Chairman Metzger presented Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones of Lisbon, Probate Judge-elect Homer W. Hammond of Columbiana, Commissioner-elect LeRoy Rinehart of East Liverpool and Dr. T. T. Church, county health commissioner.

The club's committee was assisted in preparing and conducting this party by Mrs. Metzger, Mrs. C. S. Carr and Mrs. J. H. Brian. Others who helped care for the children were Misses Elizabeth Steer and Doris Chandler and Mary Lewis Freeman.

Grange Presents Christmas Program

It was comprised of these numbers: Song, "Jingle Bells;" recitation, Lois Zimmerman; song, "Joy To the World," Men's chorus; song, Wanda and James Zimmerman; recitation, Cameron Satterthwaite; song "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," grange; song, "We Three Kings of the Orient," Helen and Gladys Vincent and Christine McArtor, accompanied by Mrs. Willis Zimmerman; recitation, Lois Jane McArtor; song, Marjorie and Virginia McArtor; song, "Silent Night" by grange.

Christmas gifts were distributed. The new officers will be installed at a meeting on Jan. 6. This will be an all-day session with a dinner at noon.

MYSTERY AUTO NEW FACTOR IN LISBON ROBBERY

Unidentified Car Seen Parked Near Court-House at 3:30 A. M.

OFFICES RESUME BUSINESS TODAY

Losses Are Covered By $55,000 Burglary and Robbery Insurance

An automobile seen parked on South Beaver st., near the courthouse at Lisbon, between 3:30 and 4 a. m. Wednesday, today loomed as a new mystery in the looting of the courthouse the same morning, as authorities probed the theft of $318, a machine gun, rifle, revolver and ammunition from county offices.

Sheriff W. J. Barlow reported today that the machine was seen parked between West Lincoln way and West Washington st. as firemen responded to an alarm originating when a blaze of mysterious origin destroyed the barn on the Grant E. Pike farm, north of Lisbon, at 3:30 a. m.

Auto Disappears

The machine had disappeared when firemen returned and attempts are being made today by the sheriff to link its passengers with the courthouse robbery, believing, also that they may have set fire to the barn, to attract attention from the village.

Business was resumed today in the offices of Treasurer John C. Litty and Auditor John H. Irwin following investigations by county authorities in conjunction with visiting finger print experts. Carpenters are at work at the courthouse repairing damage resulting from activities of the burglars who dynamited a vault door in Litty's office, pried open doors and windows and caused other damage.

Although the safe in the office of Auditor John H. Irwin was opened and $318 in cash taken, together with an unknown amount of stamps, the lock and combination of this safe was wrecked by blows. The thieves also opened a steel filing cabinet in this office where real estate tax records are kept, and a steel drawer was pried open. A three compartment cash box in this drawer was lifted out and placed under the filing cabinet. Change to the amount of $2 in the cash compartment was not taken. Large finger prints are to be observed on this compartment tray.

A Thompson sub-machine gun and a 30-30 seven shot repeating government rifle were missing from the sheriff's office.

The machine gun was purchased by the county commissioners for the use of the sheriff's office a few months ago at a cost of $268. A combinaton on the small safe in this office was pried off, but nothing was taken from the safe, it was disclosed.

Granted Freedom, Fugitive Kisses Governor's Hands

(By Associated Press)

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 22—Robert Elliott Burns, fugitive from a Georgia prison gang, has found a haven in New Jersey.

The convict-author, twice escaped from a prison camp, will be granted refuge by Governor A. Harry Moore, so long as he "leads an honest, upright life."

Admonished by Governor Moore, whose hands he kissed, to abjure publicity, Burns has promised to cease exploiting the alleged brutalities he suffered as a chain gang prisoner.

Moore, who listened for hours to tales of purported cruelties of chain gangs and use of sweat boxes and stocks, decided the case on "its merits". He found in rulings of the United States and New Jersey supreme courts precedents for his refusal to grand Georgia's request for extradition.

After granting Burns his freedom, following a hearing on extradition yesterday, Governor Moore warned him that his future conduct would determine whether he should be returned to a chain gang.

East Liverpool Man Is Killed In Accident On Route No. 7

EAST LIVERPOOL, Dec. 22. — One person was killed and four others were injured in traffic accidents in the East Liverpool district Wednesday afternoon and today.

Samuel Whitenberger, 60, of R. F. D. 7, died in East Liverpool City hospital a few minutes after he arrived there after being struck by a truck driven by Walter Ludwig, First st.

The accident occurred on the East Liverpool-Youngstown rd., near Whittenberger's home. The man is said to have been walking in the middle of the highway, Coroner E. R. Sturgus rendering a verdict of death resulting from an unavoidable accident.

He sustained a crushed skull, broken back and neck.

Injured in traffic collisions were Mrs. Ray Perry of Mount Vernon; Mrs. Julia Peterson and her son, Carl, and Mrs. Sarah Peterson, all of Chicago.

None of the injured was seriously hurt.

President of Bank Wounded by Bandits

GEORGETOWN, ILL., Dec. 22. — Four robbers wounded O. P. Clark, bank president, and Charles Evans, police chief, and escaped with $9,300 in a daring robbery today.

They opened fire with shotguns when Evans, sensing a holdup as their sedan drew alongside Clark's coupe, drew a revolver. Both men were wounded in the head and were brought to a hospital. Their injuries were not believed serious.

The money was being taken from a Danville bank to Georgetown to be used in cashing miners' pay checks Friday.

BEER TO FACE MORE HURDLES

Passes In House, Goes to Senate and, Perhaps, the President

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22. — The Democratic 3.2 per cent beer bill which rode through the house on the wave of a 65-vote majority, came abreast of two new hurdles today—the senate and presidential approval.

Prompt consideration was promised in the senate, probably in mid-January after a vote has been had on prohibition repeal, but Democratic leaders were not voicing the optimistic predictions which preceded victory in the house yesterday.

Drys Predict Defeat

While the wets continued jubilant over the 230 to 165 vote which spelled the first successful attempt to modify the Volstead law in 12 years, dry members confidently asserted that the measure would be defeated at the other end of the capitol. If not here, they held that President Hoover would not approve it and that it could not be passed over his veto.

Shouts and applause greeted Speaker Garner's announcement of the bill's passage yesterday after three and a half hours of tense debate and quick rejection of approximately two dozen amendments, including one to cut the alcoholic content from 3.2 to 2.75 per cent by weight.

Soon thereafter senate leaders announced plans for early consideration of the measure.

Saying he saw no reason for delay, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, stated he would ask to have the bill referred to the judiciary committee and then to the finance committee. That committee, however, will not meet until after the Christmas recess and its sub-committee, which will study it, is now framing prohibition repeal legislation.

Surprised At Majority

Garner and other leaders of his party said they were surprised at the large house majority.

Crowded galleries including a number of senators, attended the

Three Are Injured As Autos Collide

Three persons, Salem and Valley residents, were injured in a collision of two automobiles on Mahoning st., Alliance, near the Salem-Alliance rd., at 4:15 p. m. Wednesday.

The injured are John Iler, 58, his wife, 56, both of Valley, and their daughter, Mrs. Robert Buckholdt of Salem.

Iler is in the Alliance City hospital, suffering from a dislocated arm, cuts in the back of the neck and hand and body bruises. Mrs. Iler sustained leg cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Buckholdt received only minor bruises, being able to continue at work at the Deming company today.

Lovers Are Broke; Girl Would Trade Rings For License

GREENUP, KY., Dec. 22. — A Portsmouth, O., girl who tried to barter two rings for a marriage license and pawn her watch for the ceremony today had bridged half the distance to matrimony.

The Rev. Edgar Sidel, pastor of the First M. E. church here, said he would give the vows without cost, but County Clerk J. B. Bates replied he must have $5 for a license.

The girl wrote to both, explaining she was to lose her job as a maid tomorrow; that her fiance had just recovered ffrom an illness, and both were almost penniless. However, they had been offered a home by the youth's parents, she said, and he hoped to get a job with a road construction crew.

She told Mr. Sidel she would leave her wrist watch as security and pay him in 90 days.

The county clerk pointed out it would be much cheaper to marry in Ohio, where the license fee is just $2.

The girl's name was not disclosed. She said her fiance was unaware she was writing to the minister and clerk.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAM PLANNED

Patrolman Hiddleson's Death Shock to City Hall Workers

A civil service examination will be necessary to fill the vacancy created in the Salem police department through the sudden death Wednesday night of Patrolman Wilbur Hiddleson.

Safety Director John R. Kerr announced today that no applicants are listed with the commission as being eligible for appointment to the post. An examination will be held as soon as possible, he reported.

Fill Post Temporarily

Appointment of a temporary patrolman to fill the post until a permanent appointment is made is planned by Kerr.

Fellow workers of Patrolman Hiddleson at city hall today believed that his determination to "stick by his job" despite injury or illness, to a certain extent at least, attributed to the popular policeman's death.

Hiddleson was injured more than a week ago slipping on an icy sidewalk. Despite suffering caused by a wrenched back and side and, friends believe, internal injuries, he continued on duty until Sunday night when he again slipped, aggravating injuries sustained in the first fall.

He was off duty Monday but had planned to return to work some time during the latter part of this week.

Shock to Co-Workers

Hiddleson's death came as a surprise and shock to city hall workers and others, as well. Police Chief T. W. Thompson visited at his home Wednesday, finding him apparently recovered and able to be out of bed and walk about the home.

It was the first time Hiddleson was off duty because of illness during the entire five and one-half years he served the city as patrolman, Thompson stated.

INJURIES FROM FALL TEN DAYS AGO ARE FATAL

Served as Councilman and Safety Director Before Joining Police

LEAVES WIDOW AND DAUGHTER

Funeral Service Will Be Held at Home Saturday Afternoon

Wilbur Hiddleson, 53, patrolman, former director of public safety and at one time First ward councilman, died suddenly at his home, 337 Jennings ave, at 11 p. m. Wednesday.

Illness superinduced by internal injuries sustained in a fall on an icy sidewalk while on duty ten days ago, caused death.

On Force Five Years

Patrolman Hiddleson, lifelong resident of Salem and active in legislative and other municipal affairs here for years, was patrolman for more than five years. He was appointed to the post on March 16, 1927, after qualifying in civil service examinations on March 10 of the same year.

Hiddleson resigned his office as First ward councilman to accept the patrolman's post. He had served as councilman for one and one-half terms, three years.

He served as director of the department of public safety from Aug. 15, 1922, when he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of A. H. Chalfant, until Jan. 1, 1924.

He was a son of John and Elizabeth Hiddleson and was born in Salem on Sept. 17, 1879. For years he was employed as machinist in the Buckeye Engine company plant here.

Headed Pension Unit

Hiddleson was president of the police pension board here for two terms, holding that office at the time of his death and was also affiliated with the Ohio Police and Fire Pension board, McKinley lodge No. 27, Fraternal Order of Police of Canton, the Salem Machinists union and Quaker City Aerie No. 316, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

He is survived by his widow, Catherine; one daughter, Edith of Salem; and two brothers, Wallace of New Brighton, Pa., and Burt, of Bayard.

Funeral service will be held at the home at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in charge of Rev. Fr. M. J. Casey, pastor of St. Paul's Catholic church. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Mahoning Yields Big Catch of Carp

(By Associated Press)

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 22—Food for Christmas came to Youngstown's unemployed today when a large school of carp found its way down the acid-infested waters of the Mahoning river and the fish were taken out by the hundreds.

Unable to get sufficient oxygen from the waters tainted by the steel mills, the fish poked their noses above the surface in hordes. Scores of unemployed men and boys lined the banks of the river for a mile, wading to their hips in the icy water and using boats to haul in the carp. They used clubs, hatchets, rifles, large hooks attached to poles and other improvised instruments of slaughter to stun and kill the fish.

Wives and daughters stood on a railroad trestle directing the "fishermen" to points where they saw carp coming up for air.

The carp weighed from three to eight pounds. Some families caught as many as 20.

AN ENDURING GIFT

Peace on earth, good will toward men. The expression is heard frequently during the Christmas holiday, exemplifying, as it does, the desire of the creator of all things for amity among all men and indicating, here on earth, that there is a genuine effort, appearances to the contrary notwithstanding, for a fellowship among human beings.

As a visible manifestation of the effort comes the decision of the Salem City hospital and its staff of physicians that the poor of the city, those absolutely unable to pay, will receive every necessary medical attention without cost.

It is a depressing thought that there are many who are unable to pay, even medical bills, but, nevertheless, it is the truth.

And these doctors like others, have looked the facts squarely in the face and, feeling, as they expressed it, that "we want to do our part", have proffered their services to the city relief commission. Probably if the whole truth were known doctors have done much along this line already, without benefit of publicity. Nurses of the hospital will do their share and druggists will provide medicines at the bare cost.

This is the kind of a Christmas present that endures.

A TEXAS PARTY

Mrs. John N. Garner, wife of the vice president-elect, somehow has escaped the painful deflation in publicity that reduced her husband from the white hope of the house of representatives to less a appealing proportions as just another county seat politician who got himself a congressional district and settled down to be elected from it the rest of his life.

Because Mrs. Garner still is generally believed to be an important reason for her husband's rise in politics and because that rise has carried him, successively, to two of the highest positions in his country, she is a natural focus of attention. People are eager to know more about her, most of them believing that they would find much to admire. With no apparent intent to lead them on, she has displayed just the right amount of reticence to whet their appetites.

The Garners are of the "us-common-folks" variety of politicians. Despite considerable wealth, they have eschewed voluntary contact with Washington's primrose paths. It has been their way of handling their affairs and no one has taken the trouble to quarrel with them about it. There was not even a harsh word when Mr. Garner became vice president and Mrs. Garner became the second lady of the land, socially exalted as the two positions are.

There were, however, all the thousand and one nuances of gossip and comment revealing an undercurrent of alarm mingled with distaste against the prospect of four years of non-participation in society by the vice president and his wife. Their social function is, after all, almost as important as those duties prescribed by law. The president is the social lion, but the vice-president eats the food and fills the exhibition cage.

Mrs. Garner, with womanly intuition, sensed the vague unbalance of affairs. In time to make it a part of Christmas cheer, she has given the broad hint that she will not be oblivious of her social duties, although she retains the right to perform them her own way. Give 'em a Texas party, Mrs. Garner. Let the mister wear his fishing overalls and insist on everybody having plenty of bosterous fun. Something has to be done to convince the effete east that people who go to bed at 9 o'clock aren't sticks-in-the-mud.

M. HERRIOT'S DISCOVERY

It is no comfort now either for Frenchmen or Americans to be told that all the blistering fulminations of the last few days were the product of an oversight by Edouard Herriot. Nevertheless, it has been established that the gentleman need never have been defeated and that France's payment last week could have been made legally without seeking a favorable vote in the house of deputies.

Last March, the story goes, credits necessary to make the Dec. 15th payments were voted in good order. No further action was necessary. Had M. Herriot gone ahead, it is possible that he might have ruled down legislative opposition and saved the sanctity of France's signature. But, according to his account of the affair, he did not know that the necessary credits had been voted. He discovered it accidentally after it was too late.

The New York Times' Paris correspondent offers, as an explanation to soften the shock of what appears to be inexcusable oversight, the fact that since the money to pay the debts was voted there has been such a rapid overturn in government that men have lost track of affairs. Pierre Laval, in whose administration the action occurred, has been replaced and his successor has been replaced. As if that were not enough, there has been a general eection. He adds this sentence: "Last March seems a long time ago in French political history."

During the days since France's decision to default its payment, the reflection of its attitude in the news has appeared as a policy of "waiting out" the United States. There has been no visible tendency to move toward reconsideration and, if dispatches may be trusted, far less excitement in Paris over a decision to default and a change in governments than there has been in Washington over failure to receive a sum of money relatively insignificant in the American scale of governmental finances. One wonders if M. Herriot's discovery proved exciting. For all their well advertised Latin temperament, the French seem to know when to be calm. Perhaps temperament is forced into a back seat when their business judgment is under fire.

What Others Say

ONE-THIRD FOR TAXES

When the flower of prosperity was in full bloom the man of small salary sulked when estimates of per capita wealth and income made their annual appearance and wondered who was getting the lion's share of his share. Today those of them who still hold their jobs and old salaries can read the estimates for 1932 without the old pangs of envy. They need only hope that the persons who got the lion's share in 1929 and before are now paying heir share of the losses.

Estimates fix this year's income of the American people at $37,500,000,000 or 30 per cent below that of last year and less than half of the 1929 income of $85,000,000,000.

Some of this loss, of course, is only on paper, and another considerable fraction is offset by the fall in commodity prices. The dollar is worth 34 cents more now than in 1929 when prices were at their peak.

National income is today about where it was in 1913. Living costs are higher, although some commodity prices have touched the 1913 level within the past year. Taxes also are higher, 33 cents out of every dollar of income going into public coffers compared with 16 cents in 1913.

Does this explain why the nation is in revolt against the high cost of government and high taxes? — Newark Advocate.

NEW YORK Day by Day by O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Dec. 22—Gang intimidation approaching open warfare among speakeasy restaurants, has the Tenderloin edgy. The underworld whispers that one of the leading entrepeneurs was ordered to withdraw from one highly successful cabaret, and to start a rival place up the street. He did.

The threat was sheathed in gangdom's omnious snapper: "If you don't, it will be just too bad!" The most ornate evening bazaars are controlled by the big shots, one of whom operates from prison. To remain unmolested by raiders, one must swing with the mob. Or else—

Such tony spots cater solely to a class patronage. None of their guild is permitted at tables. So cleverly is the ownership camouflaged, managers often are surprised to learn, after raids, that they were working for gorillas. Real owners spend time "putting in the fix" to stay off prosecutions.

Most speakeasy raids, as a wag puts it, are merely titing gin-mills —a temporary closing. An engraved invitation to one, recently re-opening, voices, in a crude slug, prohibition contempt. In a corner, in heavy block letters and in significant quotation marks, is: "REFURNISHED."

The Grand Central's long oyster bar serves more of that specialty than any other place on the globe. During season, it disposes of 50 barrels a day. Humanity is woven in every shade at the oyster bar from the shirt-sleeved freight handler to the professorial plutocrat who inquires: "How are the bivalve mollusks today?" President Hoover has been a patron. So has Vincent Astor, who is fond of stews.

Living inland, the traditional red and green sign of the R meant oysters in square tins only at Hud Faudree's and Cooney Schreck's. To this day, oysters on the half shell do not mean as much as they did tinned, in our insular burg. An unsung philosopher once chronicled: "An oyster stew a glass of light beer and a corncob pipe will keep eyes blue to any weather."

Aside from E. Berry Wall, no figure will be missed by Americans riding on Paris boulevards more than the late Boni de Castellane. He was passionately fond of Bostons, and invariably dropped around to see mine when I came to town. The last two years, I did not see him. He had been shunted to an invalid's chair alongside of which his Boston faithfully trotted. He spoke unaccented English and adored New York cooking. "France serves no better meal," he once told me, "than one I had at old Delmonico's."

A bad-mannered movie star, in a recent round of first-night vacationing from Hollywood does not know how nearly she came to being asked to leave a certain Saturday night premiere—at the request of the management. Her frenzy for exploiting an overriding ego—frisking through aisles, waving to imaginery friends and talking to neighbors during the play—so disrupted things, performers threatened bolt. A note had been written when the lady finally became conscious of surrounding frowns, and subsided.

At this same premiere, an ill-timed stumble, sliding a Tyrolean Romeo down a papier mache mountain into the footlight gulley, marred what might have been an auspicious introduction for Francis Lederer, highly tom-tommed from European triumphs. Visitors to Berlin will remember him as Franz Lederer of the "Wunder Bar," three years ago.

From a society column: "The meal began simply with a plain broth, followed by an ordinary entree. Then a surprising salad on electrically lit plates, ice cream molds of each guest in a netting of spun sugar, and coffee in gold, jewel-studded cups."

NEWS FROM NEARBY DISTRICTS

WASHINGTONVILLE

Saturday Night club members were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Senheiser. Cards entertained with honors being won by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Warner and Mrs. D. M. Weikart and Ray Stouffer. The hostess served lunch.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Warner.

Hold Yule Party

Miss Mary Jane Geiger is ill with chickenpox.

The following Christmas program will be given by Trinity Lutheran Sunday school at 7:30 tonight.

The first part of the program will consist of exercises special music, Scripture reading, prayer and remarks by the pastor, followed by a Christmas cantata, "The Echo of a Song".

Cantata Synopsis

The celebration of Christmas in the old Shipley home was one that could not be forgotten. It had made an impression upon the younger generation. Now the young group had planned a more modern way than the old time manner of keeping Christmas. This new idea meant that Grandfather and Grandmother Shipley would have to be alone for this day. Plans were made for a Christmas concert. In the rehearsal the hearing of the old song, "A Little Town of Bethlehem," brings about a change of mind for Margaret Shipley. Plans were changed. The spirit of the old song also comes into the home of Philip and Jean Shipley. The result is that Christmas in the old fashioned way with turkey, cakes and cookies, Scripture reading and Christmas Carol singing, is celebrated at Grandma's house. So there is a happy family, for grandparents children and grandchildren enjoy the old time Christmas celebrated in the old time way. The cast of characters follow:

Bnediction by Rev. G. D. Keister pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Davis entertained at dinner of Sunday in their home guests including Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Weikart and family of Leetonia; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Weikart and daughter Ruth; J. C. Weikart, daughter Clara, and Orlando Bossert.

P. T. A. Meets

The monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers association of the Consolidated School district was held at St. Paul's Lutheran chapel Monday evening. The high school orchestra under the direction of R. E. Fowler favored with several selections. M. C. Helm, of Fair Harbor, was the speaker, and gave a very interesting address on "Tax Relief and School Relief." Mr. Helm, a former superintendent of school and a member of the board of education, told the association it would be a sad day for civilization when schools would be forced to close their doors and be turned loose because of inadequate funds. More than one-third of the schools of Ohio did not open, have closed or are about to be closed because funds couldn't be raised by local taxation. Mr. Helm favors other means of taxation to finance the schools. Mrs. Tillie McNulty acted as chairman. The third grade of South Side taught by Miss Hazel Ginther received the attendance prize of $1. Supt. H. C. Leonard gave a short talk.

The Kiwanis club held its weekly meeting at St. Paul's Lutheran chapel Monday evening. The Priscilla club served the dinner with covers laid for 19. M. C. Helm, of Fair Harbor, gave a very interesting address on the "School Tax". Walter Peet gave the attendance prize that was awarded to I. F. Mellinger. Guests of the club were County H. C. Leonard of Lisbon, and F. B. Booth, principal of the high school.

BEER TO FACE MORE HURDLES

Passes In House, Goes to Senate and, Perhaps, the President

exciting debate and preliminary maneuvering which preceded the final roll call. Early in the afternoon the drys were repulsed by a teller vote of 163 to 118 when they sought to strike out its enacting provisions and thus wreck the measure.

"Lame ducks"—those who will not return to the house for the next congress—voting for the bill, included 17 Democrats and 43 Republicans; those voting against included 12 Democrats and 69 Republicans.

Beer Bill, In Brief
(By Associated Press).

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—The important provisions of the Collier 3.2 per cent beer bill passed by the house and sent to the senate are:

Legalizes beer, ale, porter and lager beer of 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight or 4 per cent by volume.

Provides a tax of $5, on each 31 gallon barrel, as compared with the existing war time tax of $6 a barrel.

Provides federal protection to dry states on the basis of the Webb, Kenyon and Reed "bone dry" laws.

Becomes effective 30 days after enactment.

Increases existing occupational or licence tax on brewers from $100 to $1,000 annually.

Requires wholesale distributors to pay an annual federal license fee of $50 and retailers $20.

Allows sale in any licensed place where such sale is not in conflict with state or local laws.

Permits distribution of beer in barrels, bottles, casks, kegs or other containers, sealed and labeled.

Provides penalties for violations.

In addition, advocates claim it will produce $300,000,000 annually in revenue on a possible consumption basis of 60,000,000 barrels as contrasted with treasury estimates of $125,00,000 to $150,000,000 on a probable consumption of 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 barrels.

WASHINGTON — All steamship and airplane tickets sold in Peru now carry a revenue tax of 2 to 4 per cent of the ticket's value, according to the Commerce Department. First class tickes for foreign countries carry stamps to the value of 4 per cent of the value of the ticket, while second and third class passengers are charged 2 per cent. An exception is made, however, on tickets for foreign countries taken out by persons proceeding from Bolivia and those arriving by ship on Lake Titicaca.

Ohioans Will Hear Christmas Carols

Radio fans in this community, and especially telephone workers, will be interested in a program of Christmas carols which will ring throughout Ohio at 12 noon Friday over a network of six radio stations.

The program will originate in the lobby of the Ohio Bell Telephone company building at Cleveland, where approximately 200 persons will gather to lend their voices to this old familiar music. The radio network includes WHK, Cleveland; WCAH and WAIU, Columbus; WSPD, Toledo; WADC, Akron, and WSMK, Dayton.

At the piano, playing the accompaniment for these scores of voices will be Davis H. Morris, assistant to the president of the Ohio Bell, who seven years ago started the custom of singing Christmas carols in the lobby. Telephone employes and visitors will participate.

The singing will be directed by Charles D. Dawe, who is widely known in Ohio music circles through his direction of the Orpheus Male chorus and the Ohio Bell chorus. Members of the latter group will lead in the singing.

The program includes music that has attended the awakening of the Christmas spirit down through the centuries. These are the carols —"O, Come All Ye Faithful," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear" "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Away In a Manger," "Good King Wenceslas," "The First Noel," "Silent Night," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," and "Joy to the World."

building since. The original bid on the courthouse building was $93,717 the contract being awarded to Simon Harrold and William C. Megown.

No attempt was made to enter the offices of the probate court, county recorder and county surveyor. The door leading into the central office of Clerk of Courts John A. Noble was pried open, but no loss was reported.

The county carries $55,000 burglary and robbery insurance, and it is estimated that it will cost between $500 and $1,000 to repair damage to the building and equipment of the several offices entered.

Disbar Attorney

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 22—A former U. S. commissioner, Frank G. Thomson, has been ordered disbarred from practice in federal courts.

He was convicted recently of conspiracy to solicit a bribe in connection with a liquor law violation and sentenced to a year and a day in prison.

DEATHS

MRS. ANNIE ULMER

LISBON, Dec. 22—Mrs. Annie Ulmer, aged 46, daughter of Edward Estill of Lisbon, died in the Mercy hospital at Canton. The body has been returned to the Eells funeral home where funeral services will be held today, with burial in Lisbon cemetery.

This is the third death in this family in three months. Mrs. Estill, the mother of Mrs. Ulmer, was the first to die at her home here, and 10 days ago the father-in-law of Mrs. Ulmer died at his home near Youngstown. It was while attending this funeral that Mrs. Ulmer contracted a cold that resulted in her death.

She is survived by her husband William Ulmer, at Canton; one son, Wayne, aged six years, and a brother, John Estill of Lisbon. Mrs. Ulmer resided at East Palestine a number of years before removing to Massillon where she lived several years, and then located at Canton.

ROSS FUNERAL

Funeral service for Henry Ross, who died Monday morning at his home, Woodland ave, was held Wednesday afternoon at the English Lutheran church in charge of te pastor, Rev. G. D. Keister.

The choir sang a special number and Mrs. Erna Paulun sang a solo, "In the Garden."

The pallbearers were: Harry Izenour and sons, George and Donald; Edward Hoch, Lloyd Seese and Paul Mercer. Interment was in Hope cemetery.

Those in attendance from out of town were: Frank Ross, Pittsburgh; Mrs. J. N. Gilbert, Wilkinsburg, Pa.; Mrs. Frank Bossart and daughter, Cleveland; Mrs. Russell Long, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mercer and daughter, Akron; Mrs. Harry Heltzell and daughter, Columbiana, and Mrs. Margarite Mercer, Covington, Ky.

MRS. MATILDA ECKHART

Mrs. Matilda Eckhart, 84, died at 7:30 a. m. Thursday at the home of her son, Philip Eckhart, 388 East Second st., with whom she lived. She had been in failing health for some time.

Mrs. Eckhart was a native of Germany. She had lived in Salem for about 30 years.

Besides her son she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. George Tritch, Hillsdale.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m., Saturday at the home. Interment will be in Hope cemetery.

CLYDE C. TAYLOR.

Clyde Collins Taylor, 29, 251 Jennings ave, died Wednesday at the Cleveland Clinic hospital, Cleveland.

Mr. Taylor was born Aug. 21, 1903 at Patmos. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Susan Taylor; three children, Junior, Janet and Beatrice; his parents; two sisters, Sadie and Jane; four brothers, James, Jessie, Fred and Charles.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Elks home, East State st in charge of Rev. B. E. Rutzky. Interment will be in Grandview cemetery. Friends may call at the home from 7 until 9 p. m. Thursday.

SCHUMANN-HEINK
BUSINESS "TICKLER"
THE KAISER

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1932 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MIAMI, Fla.—On Christmas eve, at 9:30 eastern standard time, on the coast-to-coast Red network of the National Broadcasting Co., you will hear the distinguished artist, Madame Schumann-Heink, sing one of the most beautiful Christmas songs ever written, Stille Nacht, Heilige Nacht, "Silent Night Holy Night."

This inspiring pleasure you will owe to Mr. M. H. Aylesworth, president of National Broadcasting Co., who contributes the song to the general Christmas happiness.

ALL WOMEN, mothers especially, are interested in Madame Schumann-Heink a very great artist, not only because of her beautiful vote that has made her one of the world's greatest artists, but because she is the mother of eight chidren, and not content with that service to the world, has adopted a ninth child to care for it as for her own.

Thanks to the radio miracle, Madame Schumann-Heink will be heard in Germany, in the home where she was born, and throughout all Europe.

This writer will have the honor of presenting Madame Schumann-Heink to her radio audience.

FLORIDA having had her troubles before the 1929 troubles of others, begins to take a cheerful view of conditions.

Mr. Newt Roney, whose hotel is the greatest in southern Florida, finds room renting, this year, well ahead of last year. Henry Doherty, man of many interests and many battles, who recently bought the Miami-Biltmore hotel and a great many other things down here, presumably for less than they cost, seems cheerful about it.

He runs autogyro flying machines for his guests from one hotel to another and down to his fishing island.

MR. RONEY, of the Roney-Plaza, observing the growth of his own daughter who spends her summers in the north, her winters here, and was "at 2 years of age bigger than her mother," concludes that "the north in summer and Florida in winter" will produce a race of human beings six feet and a half tall.

It is a fact that in such a climate as this, the climate that prevails along the gulf and California coasts, children grow and build up strength in winter time instead of fighting against "common colds" and losing weight.

Parents must have observed that California, combining admirable summer and winter climates, has produced an extraordinary crop of young athletes, from Helen Wills Moody of the tennis court to the young California football giants.

WHO will invent a "heart tickler" for business and industry?

You have heard about a "tickler" used by Dr. A. A. Hyman, causing hearts that have stopped beating to begin to work again, and apparently resuscitating the dead. It is well described in Time.

There is, in the right auricle of the heart, a tiny electrical machine called the "pacemaker," supplying an electric stimulus that causes the heart to beat regularly until death.

That extraordinary little machine—you have one in your own heart—generates an electric current of about one volt, and if it fails, your heart stops beating.

DR. HYMAN has invented a gold plated needle containing in its hollow point a wire carrying exactly the right electric current. When the heart has stopped the needle is pressed through the ribs into the right auricle of the stopped heart, and six times out of 10 the heart resumes work when the needed stimulus is applied not more than 10 minutes after apparent "death."

IF SCIENTIFIC ingenuity can make a "dead" heart resume work why cannot financial business and industrial ingenuity find some way to start the industrial and business heart of this nation?

Our trouble is stagnation money, which is the blood of business life, has stopped circulating.

It is not spent, does not buy goods, does not create payrolls. So nothing exists, or can be invented that would act on our business stagnation as Dr. Hyman's "heart tickler" acts on the human heart. What is it?

IS GERMANY TIRING of the republic? A new "decree for furtherance of internal peace," issued by Chancellor von Schleicher, taking the place of a former "defence of the republic act," says nothing about a republic and makes it possible for the former Kaiser to live in Germany if he wants to. Previously he had been "forever" forbidden to return.

A very well-known "society" man of New York, who had married a difficult old woman for her money, asked advice about a divorce and was told, "you would only marry again." "Well, if I do," said the young gentleman "all I can say is that I shall deserve it."

If Germany takes back the kaiser and Hohenzollerns to do her thinking and ruling, all that anybody can say is that she will deserve it.

It is hard to believe that the intelligence of Germany, trained in marvelous schools and universities, disciplined and enlightened by the Social-Democratic party, for 60 years, should return to monarchy, after the lesson of 1914-1918.

A CLASSIFIED advertisement in a paper here headed "extermination" offers to destroy your termites white wings, wood-eating ants and all others that will destroy your buildings in this warm climate if let alone.

This announcement reminds you of Mr. Huxley's comforting statement that ants, which might well have conquered the earth and dispossessed man, wiping him out completely, will not do so, because "ant evolution" has come to a standstill.

Hope For All Club Foot Sufferers

It is a sad misfortune to be born with a club foot. But children so afflicted are no longer doomed as they used to be. When the condition is recognized in its early stages cure is possible. In more advanced cases complete disability can be prevented. It is neglect of the deformity that is dangerous.

Dr. Copeland

Three theories are put forth as to the cause of this defect. The first of these is that there is involvement of certain nerves of the foot. There is the mechanical theory, the belief that pressure during birth causes the deformity. The third view is that it comes from infantile paralysis or some other infection.

In Congenital Cases

In "talipes," which is the medical name for club foot, the foot is dropped in such a manner as to make it resemble a club. In congenital cases, the affliction usually involves both feet.

Congenital club foot should be treated in infancy. Then it is often possible to correct the deformity without an operation. Relief comes from manipulation. The foot is restored to its normal position and kept there by plaster of paris bandages.

Other cases of club foot can be overcome only by operation. In this procedure, the tendon which is shortened and causing the deformity, is cut. It is a simple operation and need cause no alarm.

After "tenotomy," which is the name of the operation, the affected foot is placed in a plaster of paris bandage. This immediate treatment is followed by supervised exercises and massages. These are continued until the deformity is entirely corrected.

A similar operation has been successfully used of late in many cases of club foot caused by infantile paralysis. It differs in one respect. In paralytic cases, the tendon is cut and attached to a healthy and unparalyzed muscle. By this procedure the paralysis is overcome and the deformity disappears.

Value of Club-Foot Shoe

Let me warn against placing too much faith in the so-called "club foot shoe." It is only of value in mild cases. In most instances it is uncomfortable and does not cure the underlying deformity.

Society is more and more indebted to the outstanding achievements of modern surgery. What is being done is a blessing to rumanity. We should take advantage of every opportunity offered to remedy club foot and other physical deformities. Every child has a right to a straight and strong body. Never neglect deformities which will humiliate and make your child unhappy throughout his life.

A careful examination of a child at birth will reveal any abnormality that may be present. If club foot is found necessary measures for correction should be taken at once. Bear in mind that early diagnosis and early treatment are essential to a successful and complete cure.

Answers to Heaith Queries

E. H. P. Q.—Can moles be removed?

A.—Moles may be made less noticeable by the use of the electric needle handled by an expert. There are chemical preparations which may be used but must be administered by a skin specialist.

M. G. Q. Q.—What do you advise for low blood pressure?

Constant Reader. Q.—Can sinus trouble be cured?

A.This condition requires treatment over a long period of time before it can be entirely cleared up.

Tragic Error

Weeping and distraught by the fatal consequences of her blunder, Nurse Georgia Paulson is shown as she left the District Attorney's office, New York, after she had explained how she made the mistake in bottles that resulted in the deaths of three infants at the New York Hospital where Miss Paulson is employed. During her testimony, Nurse Paulson collapsed and medical treatment was required to revive her.

The Stars Say:

For Friday, Dec. 23

The astrological forecast for this day is for great activity and liveliness despite a number of minor setbacks and trivial disappointments. There may be much to try the patience, but with a calm front to small frustrations there may be advancement in employment, favors from suyeriors, benefits from women or elders and profit in business or writings. But avoid loans annd safe guard property interests. The personal affairs may be pleasant and quite absorbing.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of some advancement in employment, with recognition from those in authority, but it would be wise to safeguard all property and investments and to refrain from loans. There may be some stubborn obstacles to surmount or delays to meet. Private affairs are happy and an elderly woman may confer benefits. A child born on this day should be talented, successful in employment and active and popular in social andn domestic affairs. A stubborn and suspicious nature may call for some early discipline.

Notable nativity: Oscar Strauss, merchant.

Yes, Sir, 'Twas a Cold Fire!

This picture will give you a graphic idea of the difficulties that confronted Chicago firemen who were called out to fight the disastrous blaze that did $250,000 worth of damage in the stockyards recently. Sub-zero temperature coated the fire apparatus with a thick sheath of ice, rendering it practically useless. All available firemen in the city were called out in an effort to subdue the flames.

Salem Carnival Heads Attractive Two-Day Basketball Menu

ALL-STARS PLAY CANTON OUTFIT IN MAIN GAME

Proceeds of Event Will Be Donated to Salem Charities Unit

PENNZIPS TO PLAY STRONG CAGE CLUB

Unbeaten Midget Cagers Clash In First Game Of Friday Program

An attractive two-day menu of basketball treats booked in Northeastern Ohio Friday and Saturday finds no better treat in store for Salem's cage addicts than that carnival of action which will be staged at the high school gymnasium Friday night.

Clowns Play All-Stars

This carnival, featuring a contest between Salem all-stars and the Canton Clowns, is the principal attraction booked during the holiday season. The Salem High varsity, victorious over Lisbon High Tuesday, rests on its laurels and is inactive until January 7.

There'll be other big basketball game in Salem during the current season but fans will have to wait a long time before they are extended the opportunity to take advantage of such an array of entertainment as sponsors say this carnival of tomorrow night has in store for them.

Famed Players Clash

Famous Salem High basketeers will appear with the all-star quintet, vieing for honors with noted players from Canton, former high school, college and professional luminaries of the Stark county district.

That's the main attraction—this game in itself—but a sideline drawing card is the entertainment, the fun, which will be provided by the clowns, real professional entertainers, who will accompany the visiting club.

Salem's Pennzip lassies, a strong girls' club which looks like one of the best in the district, will play another great team in the semi-final battle while Joe Kelley's unbeaten Midget aggregation opposes another undefeated club, the Columbians of Youngstown, in the curtain-raiser.

Every nickel obtained through gate receipts goes into the Salem Associated Charities fund to help the unfortunate.

There are a number of interscholastic games booked throughout the district tomorrow and Saturday. Alumni games predominate in the weekend schedule.

Efforts were made to schedule an alumni-Salem High game in Salem, either for charity or a regular attraction, but Coach Floyd Stone declined to arrange the contest. The schedule of games tonight and Friday follows:

Tonight

Salineville vs Minerva.

Friday

Sebring vs Alumni.
Leetonia at Lisbon.
Girard vs Alumni.
Fairfield at Columbiana.
West Tech at Canton.
Alliance at Cuyahoga Falls.
Akron West at Massillon.
Akron Ellet at Ravenna.

BABE DIDRIKSON IS PROFESSIONAL

Foremost Girl Athlete of U. S. Quits Amateur Ranks Suddenly

BEAUMONT, Texas, Dec. 22.—Mildred "Babe" Didrikson has turned pro.

This 19-year-old Texas girl, almost universally regarded by sports followers as the world's greatest all-around feminine athlete, announced last night she had forsaken the amateur status which the Amateur Athletic Union already had taken from her for alleged commercialism of her fame.

Miss Didrikson publicly claimed she had not authorized the use of her testimonial and picture in connection with a motorcar advertisement. Her suspension, however, had not been lifted when she officially withdrew from the A. A. U. by telegraphing her decision to L. Di Benedetto of the Southern A. A. U. at New Orleans.

Her departure from amateur ranks was not entirely unexpected, for Tuesday she resigned her job with a Dallas Insurance company. Her employer said at the time he expected her to announce she had turned professional. Miss Didrickson said she had accepted a film proposition, would do sports writing annd was considering other offers. She said she had ambitions to swim around Manhattan island and then try her luck at the English channel and the Hellespont.

Since her victories in the Olympics last summer she has had numerous offers by which she might have commercialized her athletic ability but she turned them down with the reservation that she might later become a professional.

Clowns Ready to Make You Laugh In Basketball Carnival For Salem's Needy On Friday Night

Those Clowns of Canton are all set to make you laugh and at the same time provide fans with thrills of a great basketball game when they invade the Salem High gymnasium for a battle with the Salem all-stars in the charity cage carnival here Friday night. All proceeds of the big event will be donated to the Salem Associated Charities.

In the Clown roster are Sanderson, Elliott, Kurtz, VanAlmen, Rinehart and Earenfight, and those two maniacal clowns, "Mutts" Stahler and Johnnie Holman.

THREE FIELDING MARKS CREATED

Dykes, Bishop Set New Individual Records In 1932 Season

Three new fielding records were made this season: A new team fielding mark of .980, established by Philadelphia, supplanting that of the New York Yankees, .977, made in 1823. Washington fielded .979, which, of course, also is better than the old figure. A new record for second basemen of .988, made by Max Bishop in 106 games, thus excelling the .987 mark set by himself in 1926. The third new figure is for third basemen. Jimmy Dykes fielded at a .980 clip through 141 games, thereby topping the .978 of Willie Kamm.

An interesting feat which may be a new record was the performance of Minter C. Hayes, second baseman of the Chicago White Sox, who in two successive eleven inning games on July 14 and 15 accepted 34 chances without a bobble, practically one-third of his team's total for the two days of 106. Hayes had eight putouts and ten assists the first day and six putouts and ten assists in the second game.

Catcher Hayworth of Detroit handled 367 putouts and 53 assists in 92 games before he made his first error of the season in the second game of August 29. On August 14 Third Baseman Urbane Pickering of Boston tied the record for assists at that corner by handling nine without an error. Wesley Ferrell made ten assists July 23 in a 12-inning game against the White Sox, but lost.

Jimmy Foxx, Dale Alexander and Irving Burns were the leading first basemen with averages of .994 and .992, respectively. Alexander had 10:39, Burns 10 and Foxx 9.98 accepted chances per game, respectively. At second base Bill Cissell had 6.23 and Oscar Melillo 6 accepted chances per game, these being the only players in 100 or more games who had six or more accepted chances per game. Hayes had 6.05 for 97 games.

At third base Kamm handled 463 chances in 148 games and Oscar Bluege 453 in 149 games. These were the only players in one hundred or more games who accepted three or more chances per game. Kamm had 3.13 and Bluege 3.04 per game. At shortstop Warstler of Boston and Cronin of Washington were the leading grond ucoverers. Warstler had 627 accepted chances in 107 games, which is at the rate of 5.86 per game, and Cronin 754 in 141 games, a figure of 5.35.

Sam West, with 450 putouts and 15 assists, did the most work among the outfielders and was followed by Joe Vosmik, who had 444 in left field for Cleveland. Averill was third with 424 in center. Both Vosmik and Averill were in 153 games and each of them had 12 assists. Gordon Cochrane led the catchers in number of games behind the bat, 137; in total accepted chances, 746; in assists, 94; in double plays, 15, and in percentage of accepted chances, .993. Cochrane also was charged with eleven passed balls.

Pitt Victory Over Notre Dame Voted Biggest Upset of Year

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Football is the most surprising of all sports, the nation's experts have voted, and it was Pittsburgh's 12-0 victory over Notre Dame that startled them more than anything else.

Of the 142 members of the sports writing profession who voted on the "surprise of the year" in the second annual Associated Press poll, 42 picked Pitt's unexpected triumph over the Ramblers. In all, football drew 66 votes from Notre Dame's 21-0 victory over Army getting 15 of them for third place on the list. Six other gridiron surprises also figured in the balloting.

Track, Baseball Mentioned

The numerous upsets of the track and field campaigning of the Olympic year and other unexpected developments of the international games drew 35 votes while the many startling happenings of the 1932 baseball season were mentioned 18 times. Other votes were rather scattering although golf as a general subject cropped up frequently.

Second to the Pitt triumph came Bill Carr with his three victories over "Blazin' Ben" Eastman on the track. Carr got 20 votes out of the 142.

Vote On "Surprises"

The votes on the leading surprises were:

Pitt's 12-0 football victory over Notre Dame 43.

Bill Carr's three-foot racing triumphs over Ben Eastman, 20.

New York Yankees' sweep of world series with Cubs, 11,

Ellsworth Vines' defeat of Henry Cochet in U. S. tennis final, 7.

Defeat of Texas Christian by Southern Methodist in basketball, 3.

May Be Eli Mentor

Following the resignation of Head Coach Mal Stevens of Yale University's football aggregation, Reginald Dean Root (above), who has been coaching the freshman team, is regarded by many as the most likely to succeed him as chief mentor. Stevens' contract expired with the 1932 season and he declined to consider reappointment.

2 Women Chosen On All-America Trapshoot Team

(By Associated Press)

VANDALIA, Dec. 22.—Two women and a 15-year-old boy are included in the annual "All-America trapshooting team" selected by Jimmy Robinson, of Minneapolis, former statistician for the amateur trapshooting at Vandalia.

Robinson has followed the clay target came since 1908, the year registered targets came into existence. Three years ago he selected his first "All-Team".

Two Women Honored

The two women honored this year are Mrs. Walter P. Andrews of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. H. E. Grigsby, of Oklahoma City. Mrs. Andrews was ranked fourth on the team and Mrs. Grisby sixth. Fifth ranking went to Ned Lilly of Stanton, Mich., a 15-year-old lad who has competed with veteran shooters for several years.

The 1932 team is headed by Steve Crowthers, of Philadelphia, who at the Grand American here last summer crashed 598 out of 600 16-yard targets for a new G. A. H. record; won the "champion of champions" race with 199 out of 200, and tied the world's record on all-around targets at the Pennsylvania shoot with 393 out of 400.

Second position on the team was awarded A. J. Stauber of Los Angeles, Calif., who topped the high average gunners for 1932 with a record mark of .9940 on 1,000 registered targets.

In Third Place

Fred Tomlin, Glassboro, N. J., professional and world's open champion, was given third place ranking. He is the high average pro for the year with a new record for professionals of .9895 on 2,100 targets.

Mrs. Andrews, the fourth ranking star, was high over all women at the Grand American with 890 out of 1,000; broke 77 out of 100 to win the North American doubles; took high average handicap for women with .8816 on 600 registered targets and scored 190 out of 200 to take second in the women's division of the Grand American proper.

Lilly, the boy sensation, won the Michigan State title with 197 out of 200 scored 199 at the Grand American and captured the world's junior championship with 99 out of 100.

SEVERAL GREAT TEAMS ADVANCE TITULAR CLAIM

Squads Look Strong Then Fall Into Slump; Attendance Lower

LINESMEN HOLD BIG EDGE OVER BACKS

Good Ball-Carriers Many, But Forward Walls Outclass Them

Dazzling and disconcerting changes of pace stunned experts and fans alike in the 1932 football season. Teams seemed to reach a peak, only to slump a week or so later. Such a state of affairs made the season spectacular from start to finish, with coaches, players, spectators and the writers working up continual headaches trying to figure what was coming next.

The predominance of great linesmen made the defensive play of the leading teams the great feature of the year. Strong backs were numerous but the outstanding players 1932 were to be found in the forward walls.

Great Teams Numerous

Great teams wound up with blots on their records, due to unwieldy schedules. Pittsburgh, the first team to defeat Notre Dame during the year, played to scoreless ties against Ohio State and Nebraska. Alabama Poly, needing a victory over South Carolina for a southern conference title, ended with a 20 to 20 tie, and had to share the honors. Purdue hit phenomenal figures in yardage gained but a tie with Northwestern kept the Boilermakers out of a tie with Michigan in the Big Ten race.

Of the so-called major elevens in the country Colgate, Michigan and Southern California appeared to be outstanding, although Colgate ran undefeated and untried through a schedule that did not compare with the weekly grind which the Wolverines and Trojans had to meet.

Army and Pittsburgh shared with Colgate the distinction of being the best in the east, although Colgate's record carried no smudge of tie or defeat.

Southern Leaders Fail

Alabama Poly and Tennessee led in the south, but each had a tie on the books. Texas Christian topped the southwestern field. Nebraska headed the Big Six and had a tie with Pitt to brag about, although an earlier defeat by Minnesota ruined the Husker record. Utah again led in the Rocky Mountain conference.

Southern California, with a team that Howard Jones did not care to brag about much, managed to get through several close games and then came fast to beat down Notre Dame.

The renewal of regular relations between Army and Navy was a colorful feature of the season with Army winning easily.

Attendance figures fell off in many sections, but the winning teams drew heavily at reduced prices. Crises occurred in all sections when attempts were made to balance the books and curtailment of minor sports came about when football revenue fell off.

Pittsburgh, although tied twice, received the invitation to play Southern California in the annual Tournament of Roses contest at Pasadena on Jan. 2, when it appeared that Michigan and Colgate had the inside track for the game.

Stags Deposed

Amos Alonzo Stagg, 70-year-old University of Chicago coach and a vital figure in the game for forty years, was deposed because of a retirement rule. Major Frank Cavanaugh lost out at Fordham. Glenn Scobie (Pop) Warner resigned at Stanford to accept a position at Temple University of Philadelphia. Mal Stevens quit at Yale. These were but a few of the important coaching changes.

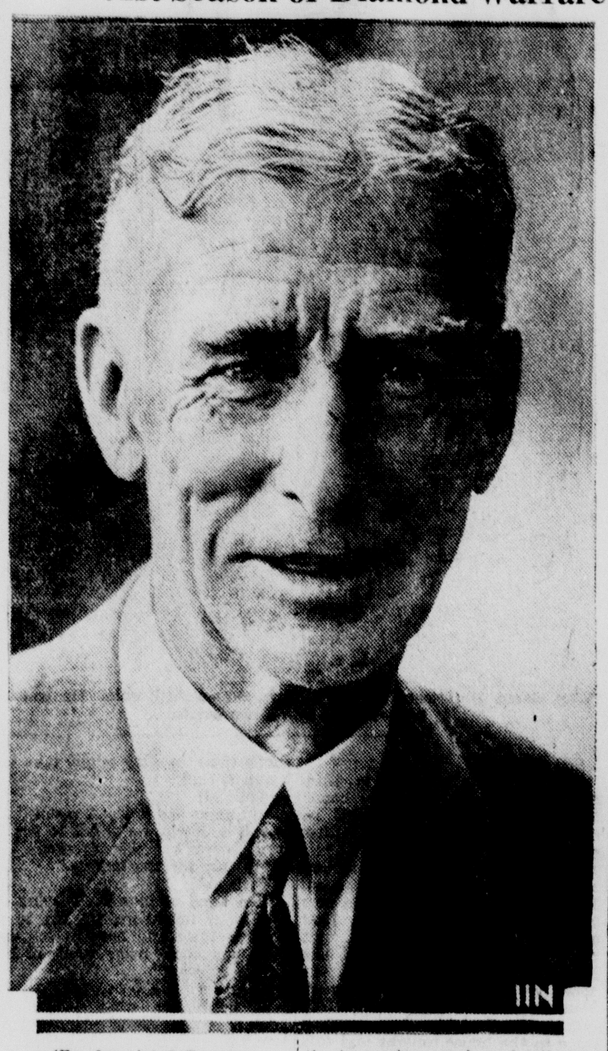

Most notable of the players developed during the year were: Smith, Southern California tackle; Moss, Purdue end; Newman, Michigan quarterback; Kurth, Notre Dame tackle; Smith, Colgate guard; Skladany, Pittsburgh end; Boswell, Texas Christian tackle; Summerfelt, Army guard; Krueger, Marquette center.

70 Years Old, Mack Prepares For 51st Season of Diamond Warfare

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22. — A "bull" on baseball—and life—Cornelius McGillicuddy, will celebrate his 70th birthday tomorrow by preparing for his 51st year of diamond warfare.

Ready to observe his arrival at the three-score-and-ten mark, Mr. McGillicuddy—of course that's Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics—sees only bright spots ahead for baseball, and himself, and thinks he has a pretty good change of winning his tenth pennant in 1933.

Still Optimistic

Incurably optimistic, even after 50 years of unparalleled ups and downs on baseball's ladder, the oldest active man in the national pastime said, in effect, today: "Don't sell baseball short; it's getting bigger and bigger and better and better."

"I think we are coming into the clear," Mack said, "not only in baseball but in other lines of business. I see the light ahead."

"It's a strange thing," he said but I catch myself looking at a lot of old men and wondering how much older they are than I, and the chances are they're several years younger."

About the Athletics — he thinks the American league battle next season will be a hard one, but that his team, if it gets the pitching, will be right up there near the top.

Likes To Talk Baseball

But chiefly while people ask him questions about himself, Connie wanted to talk about baseball. It's past, its present and its future.

"Baseball isn't down," he said, "far from it. "We've had these slumps before, and now I feel the worst is over. The fans will come back to the parks next year and see new faces, young faces and better races. I look for a pickup in 1933 just as the game always picked up in the past after bad times."

For youngsters, the veteran skipper thinks the future of baseball is better than ever and he looks upon the increasing number of collegians in the professional ranks as an excellent influence on the game.

How Connie Mack Keeps In Trim

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22.—Here's how—and why—Connie Mack, Philadelphia Athletics' manager who will be 70 tomorrow, keeps active:

"I sleep nine hours and often lie down and relax a half hour before a game," he says.

I eat a good breakfast, only graham crackers and milk for lunch, and a good dinner.

I exercise moderately, chiefly playing golf.

"I don't worry, especially about my age."

TRY THE SALEM NEWS

THE DAY IN SPORTS

FOR CHARITY'S SAKE FANS SHOULD TURN OUT

AN UNUSUAL attraction for basketball fans, one which should bring many spectators into the Salem High gymnasium Friday night, will be the cage carnival staged for the benefit of the Salem Associated Charities.

All funds obtained from the carnival are contributed to the Charities to help in welfare activities among the community's needy. It's another cause to which all should contribute.

The fact that the carnival is a charity affair is not the only inducement to attend—it should be an evening of fine entertainment for even the most critical fan. Six good teams will vie for honors.

Answering questions in regards why no Salem-Alumni game is being played this year, efforts to arrange the contest with Coach Floyd W. Stone failed because of the school's policy, recently adopted, not to play games during the holiday vacation period.

Stone also declined to play the game on the basis that "ill feelings" are engendered between exhighs and schoolboy tossers from such games.

Alumni games have always been good money-makers for the school. They have always been given the unqualified support of fandom and the net profit often has exceeded that of any other game on the schedule.

This for two reasons—there are no expenses, the guarantee usually paid to out-of-town teams becomes a matter of clear profit. Students home from the holidays flock to the game as a means of reunion with former classmates.

Alumni games are annual events in almost every other school in the district. Already the question has been asked by six returning students—"When's the alumni game?" and much dissatisfaction is expressed because the answer is "There's no game again this year!"

SYNOPSIS

Nevis and Bill Lancaster were supremely happy until Bill became successful selling bonds and they started living beyond their means. Bill entertains lavishly to promote business and is constantly on the go. Nevis sees little of him and she longs for the simple life they led when first married. Then Bill meets Olive Blanchard, who tries in vain to alienate his affections. Although Bill sees much of Olive and enjoys her company, he loves Nevis. Nevis, however, believes the affair is serious when she reads a poem which Olive sent to Bill. Piqued, she accepts the attentions of Harry Carter, a prominent architect. Bill is jealous, but when Nevis offers to give up Carter if he does Olive, he refuses. Their relations become strained. Carter tells Nevis he loves her and cannot go on without her. Nevis is stunned when Bill tells her their friends, Fluff and Les Waterford, are separating. Then comes news of another divorce in their circle and Nevis, picturing the same end for Bill and herself, is perturbed. Bill realizes Nevis still cares for him when she asks to take her away. Nevis breaks with Carter.

CHAPTER XV

Life went on much the same. Nevis missed Carter. She admitted it to herself; not the man, but the devotion. Bill, occupied as ever, was unchanged. They went out a good deal. They changed bootleggers. Bill smashed up the new car, driving home one evening and it was laid up in the garage. Nevis felt a terrific emptiness, and idleness. She thought, you can't live on good resolutions . . . I mean they make you feel pretty darned noble at first and then—you're let down. But, there was, she thought, no way out.

That autumn, the stock exchange disaster. The bond house was safe enough but Bill had been speculating, on margin. He was wiped out. There was nothing left. He came home, after those black days, haggard, his mouth twitching. He said: "I'll sell the cars and we'll have to let this place go. The Mannings will take it back. Thank God we hadn't taken up the option. I've been a fool," he said bitterly.

Dark nights, darker days. Della saying, resignedly: "Well, Small Mort can go to public school and we'll go back to the flat." Fluff, in Reno, writing frantically that it looked as if her settlement would be cut in half; Frances, talking of selling the Westlynne house—if there's anyone rich enough to buy it left."

And Olive came to see Bill at the office.

"Engineer, aren't you?" she asked him casually.

"Well, originally. And as a market operator, in a small way, I'm a good one. I seem to remember that Yale Sheff graduated me, a thousand years ago."

"Why, damn him!" said Bill on a high, almost shrill note. He leaned forward and seized her wrists

She said:

"Sam says the business is safe. But people won't be buying bonds for quite awhile. They won't be buying anything much. Father pulled out of this all right. They may not be buying automobiles either, but the factories will go on. He is looking right now for a sort of super-salesman manager. How about it? I can," said Olive, "put up a candidate. Think you'd like it? He pays good salaries". She added very carelessly. "You haven't been very sweet to me lately, Bill. But that's all right. Suppose you come to the house tonight and talk things over? Before you tell anyone? Before you see father?"

"Anyone" couldn't mean Nevis, thought Bill, delightfully stupid. He went home and told her. She said . . . No—

"But, Nevis—it's a chance. Every one is on the rocks. Blanchard's safe. He has a finger in forty pies."

She cried:

"I won't have you under obligations to Olive."

They were sitting by the fire, in the livingroom. Hari came in with some logs. She said, when he had gone: "We'll let the Japs go. I can do my own work. Until you get on your feet. The lease is up here in June. Perhaps we could sublet. I don't know. I've been talking to the agent. He says the Mannings were hard hit and may come home. If that's the case they might take the house back."

Bill said:

"I don't like it . . . I mean . . . Damn it, Nevis, we've got to act as if we weren't broke. Everyone has to, if only for the morale."

Nevis said:

"I'm tired of morale. Keeping up with your neighbors. I'd like to go back to town and have af lat, and have you come home to it, nights. In the subway!"

He argued stubbornly:

"I don't see what you've got against the Blanchard proposition."

"Merely that Olive's involved." She drew a deep breath, linked her brown hands together and stared into the fire. She asked without looking at him:

"How far has your affair gone, Bill. I haven't asked before. But I have to now."

"Affair?" he repeated blankly, "What do you mean?"

"With Olive."

"Are you out of your head?" he shouted, "I haven't had an affair with her!"

She said evenly:

"You needn't yell. I'm not angry. I'm not making a scene. There's no need to bluster. But I've got to know."

He said, more quietly, but sullenly:

"You're crazy as hell . . . I—if you want it in so many words, I haven't been unfaithful to you."

She said:

"You've kissed her. I saw you, once. At the club. You've seen her in town, a lot more than you've told me. And she's written you letters. I found them."

Bill said, absurdly:

"Damn it, I thought I destroyed them! What right have you to read my letters, anyway "

"Bill don't be silly. None, I suppose, unless being your wife give me a right. I suppose it doesn't. But there isn't a woman living who wouldn't read her husband's letters from another woman, if they happened to come her way, and you know it!"

He said, his anger leaving him:

"Yes, I've kissed her. And seen her, in town. And she wrote me letters—pretty crazy they were, a lot of poetry and stuff. But it didn't mean anything. I swear to you, Nevis, that's as far as it has gone. I never cared about her. Well, perhaps last summer I did . . . give her to understand a lot. But you were sore at me, you wouldn't let me come near you."

"I know." She was silent a moment, then added, looking into the fire. "What would you say if I told you I had had an affair with Harry Carter?"

"Why, damn him!" said Bill on a high, almost shrill note. He leaned forward and seized her wrists and forced her to meet his eyes . . . "Nevis—you don't mean . . .? You can't mean? My God, you aren't serious!" he said.

"You are hurting my wrists. No, I didn't have an affair with him. But I might have had one. I was pretty near it. I—I loved you but there was Olive. And everyone I knew took marrige vows pretty light—except Mort and Della maybe. They're pretty serious about marriage, their marriage, underneath. I was bored. I had nothing to do. You and I were as far apart as the poles. We didn't talk about anything except money and debts and parties and gossip. I hardly ever saw you. When I did you were either going out with, or without me somewhere or we had people coming in. I was fed up, I tell you. I am still. I can't stand it. Money or no money, I won't go on with this idiotic existence. Perhaps you haven't gone very far with Olive; I do believe you. But how about next time? Maybe with Olive, maybe with someone else. It will be easier next time. It will be easier for me, too, next time, when I get so bored I could scream and some other man comes along and gives me something to think about. I can find all sorts of excuses for myself; you can find them for yourself. Easier, every time. I tell you, it isn't good enough! We'll get away from here and from everyone and start over again or," said Nevis, crying wildly, "I'll leave you!"
